2. Children.

lamUbuntu does not permit anyone under the age of 18 to use lamUbuntu services.

3. Cookies and other identifiers.

We use cookies and similar tools to improve your user experience, deliver our services and understand how customers use our services so that we can make improvements. Depending on the applicable laws in the region you are in, the cookie banner in your browser will tell you how to accept or reject cookies.

4. Does lamUbuntu Share My Personal Information?

Information about our users is an important part of our business and we do not sell our users' personal information to others. lamUbuntu shares users' personal information only as described below and with lamUbuntu's subsidiaries or affiliates that are either subject to this Privacy Notice or follow practices at least as protective as described in this Privacy Notice .

Third Party Service Providers: We employ other companies and individuals to perform functions on our behalf. Examples include data analysis, marketing assistance, payment processing, content transmission, and credit risk assessment and management. These third party service providers only have access to the personal information necessary to perform their functions, but may not use it for other purposes. In addition, they must process personal information in accordance with our contractual agreements and only in accordance with applicable data protection laws.

Business Transfers: As we continue to develop our business, we may sell or buy other businesses or services. In such transactions, user information is typically one of the transferred business assets, but remains subject to the promises made in any pre-existing Privacy Notice (unless, of course, the user agrees otherwise). In addition, in the unlikely event that lamUbuntu or substantially all of its assets are acquired, user information will be one of the transferred assets.

Protecting lamUbuntu and others: We release account and other personal information when we believe disclosure is appropriate to comply with the law or our regulatory obligations; enforce or enforce our Terms of Use and other agreements; or protect the rights, property, or safety of lamUbuntu, our users, or others. This includes exchanging information with other companies and organizations to protect against fraud and reduce credit risk.

5. International transfer of personal data.

lamUbuntu may transfer your data outside the European Economic Area ("EEA"). lamUbuntu establishes appropriate technical, organizational and contractual safeguards (including Standard Contractual Clauses) to ensure that such transfers are made in accordance with applicable data protection regulations, unless the country to which the data is transferred has already been determined by the European Commission to ensure adequate protection level.

6. Information security.

We design our systems with your security and privacy in mind. We work to protect the security of your personal information during transmission using encryption protocols and software.

We maintain physical, electronic and procedural safeguards in connection with the collection, storage and disclosure of your personal information. Our security procedures mean that we may ask you to verify your identity to protect you from unauthorized access to your account password. We recommend that you use a unique password for your lamUbuntu account that is not used for other online accounts, and log out when you're done using the shared computer.

7. Marketing.

To provide you with a better user experience, we may share your personal information with our marketing partners for the purposes of targeting, modeling and/or analytics, as well as marketing and advertising. You may opt-out of sharing personal information with our marketing partners if we have no legitimate interest in doing so.

8. What Information Can I Access?

You can access information including name, address, phone, payment methods, member profile information.

9. What are my rights?

If you have any questions or concerns about how we collect and process your personal information, please contact support.
